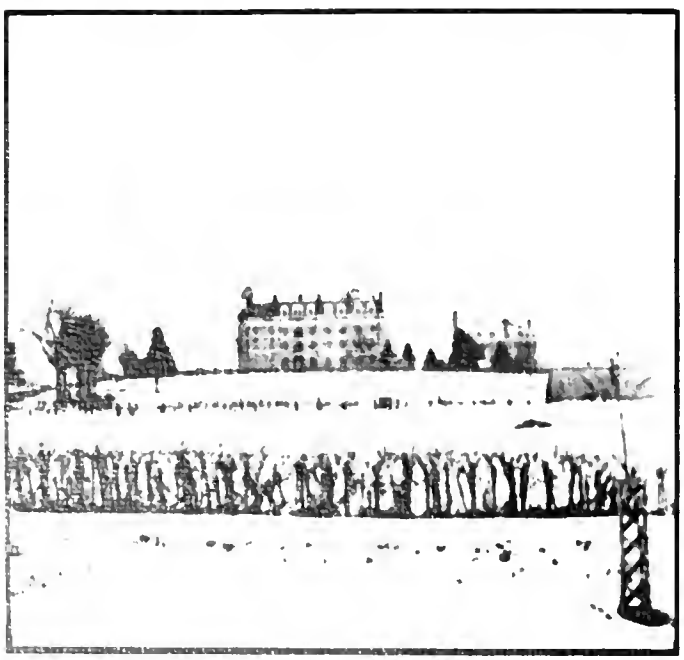
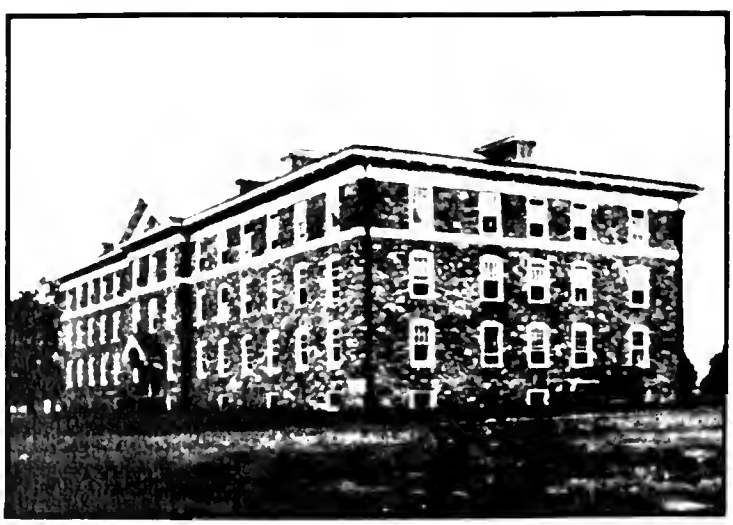
Old Main—first building erected for the State Normal School.

A wide perspective of West Chester before modernization.



Wayne Hall—the first men's dormitory at State Normal School.

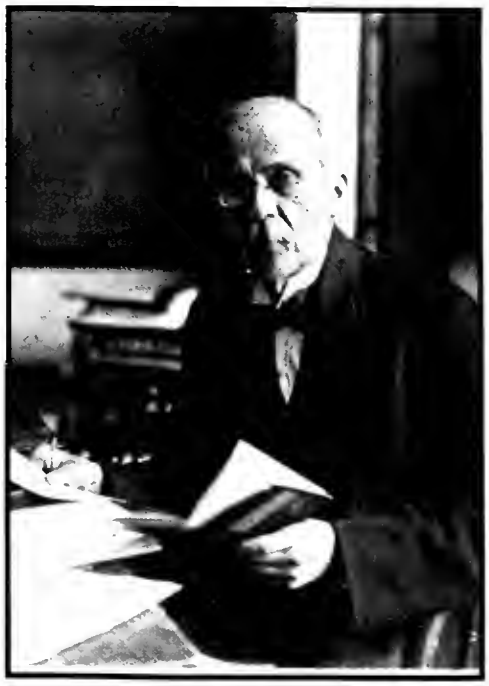


An Era of Excellence Begins...

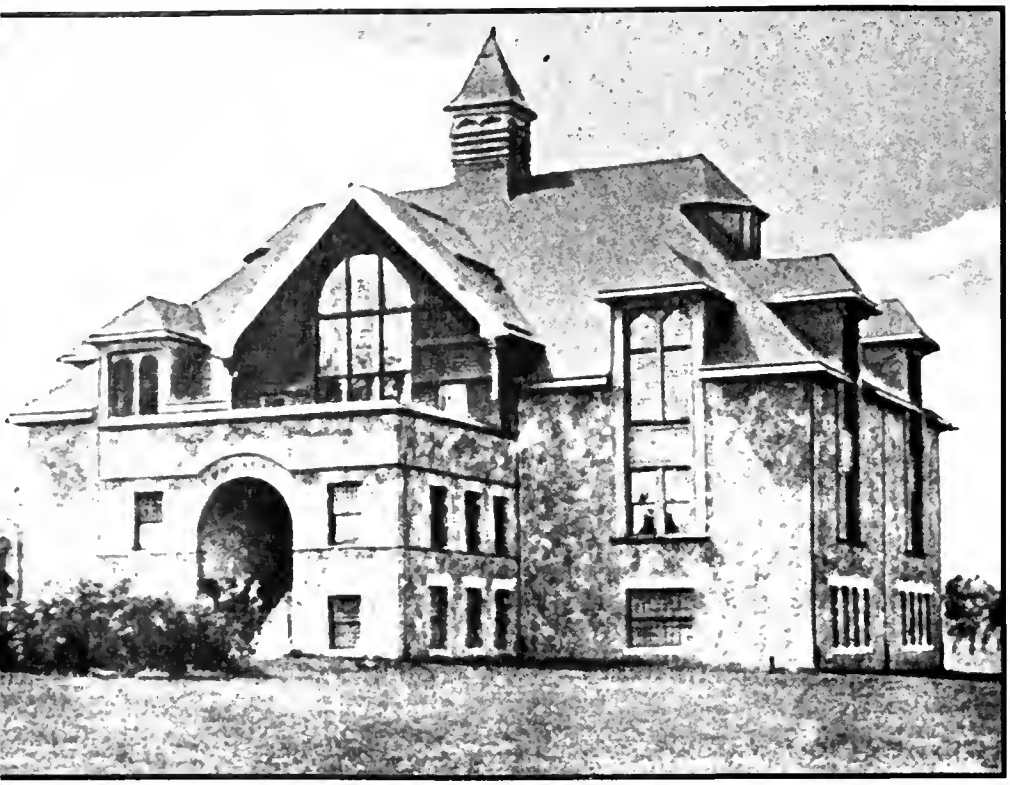
It all began on September 25, 1871—the first classes commenced at West Chester State Normal School. The first building was on High Street. It eventually became known as Old Main. New buildings were constructed quickly in pace with the growing number of students from 87 in 1871 to 8000 in 1971.

-W.C.S.N.S. Flourishes In Its Newness-

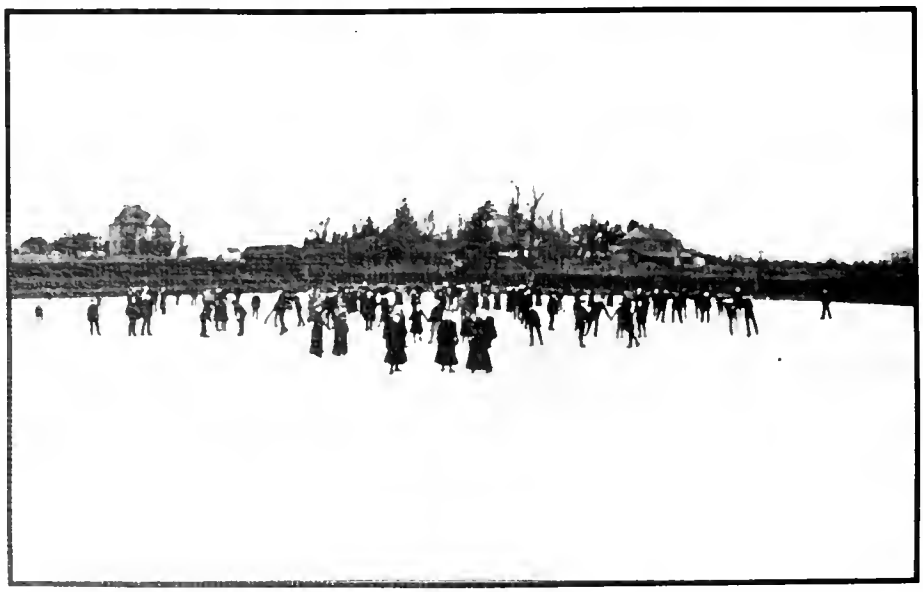
A student in 1871 began his day at six o'clock and spent a vigorous day of chapel, study, and meals with such "unique dishes" as corn-on-the-cob.



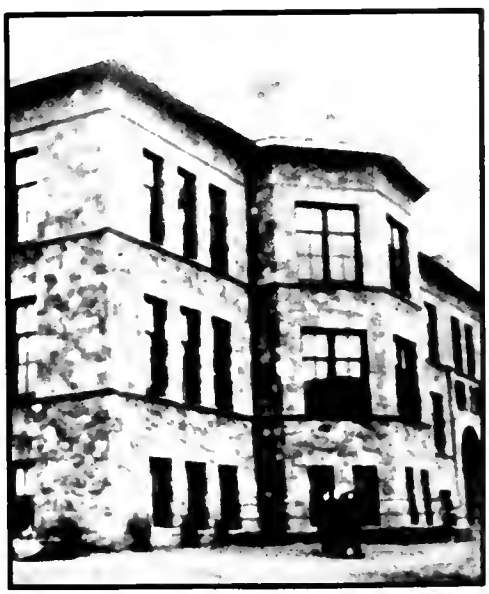
The first teacher of mathematics and science.



Ehringer Gymnasium at State Normal School of yesteryear.



Ice skating was a winter recreational activity at the Normal School Skating Pond.



Recitation Hall complemented the new growing campus.

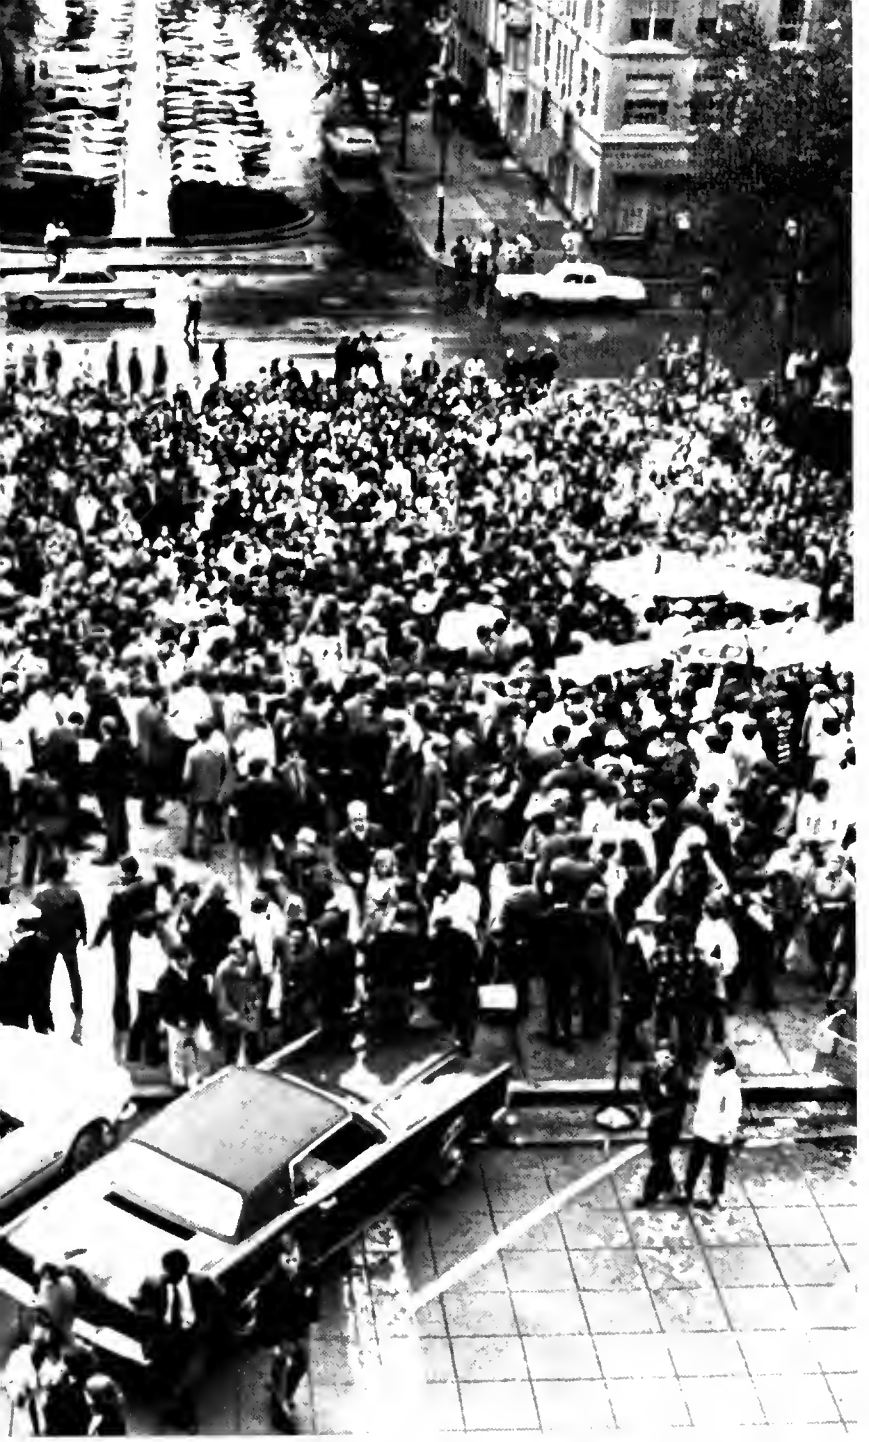
Student Unrest

Students here as West Chester as well as many other college campuses are becoming increasingly aware. Interest in college policy as well as state and national issues is growing. This may be an indication that apathy is finally beginning to dwindle. Change is surely going to come.



Two of the various constructive and peaceful ways of showing dissatisfaction here at West Chester was the protesting of Dr. Kay's removal by sleeping in the Quad, and a march to Harrisburg over the increase in tuition. These are good examples of healthy dissent growing from our college campuses.
